

SCHOLARSHIPS

There are many available from Universities, Polytechnics, private providers and corporations. Please use the website links. Many have early closing dates and interviews. There is also reference material in the SAS. Please do not remove it, as all students need access to this information.

Other Scholarships

Universities and polytechnics, government organisations, and industries often have funding opportunities available for school-leavers. More information can be found at the "Money for Study" page on the Futureintech website, at www.futureintech.org.nz/scholarships.cfm

Fairfax Media

Seeking suitable applicants to undertake journalism training at one of five preferred journalism training schools. University graduates are preferred for internships, we are prepared to consider qualified school leavers and those with the appropriate life skills and those who wish to make journalism their career.
